THE COCOA (OSE CACAO) OF MARA-VILLA is the true THEOGROMA LINNÆUS. Cocoa is indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favored portion. TAYLOR BOUTHERS thaving secured toe exclusive supply of this marrivalled Cocoa, have, by the skilful application of Get residel principle and endouse monitors, pr. docto what is as undeniably the perfection of prepared see, that it has not only a soured the preference of home-path; and cocoa-frinker senerally, but many who had distart he footing up prepared to to suit them, have after one trial, a topted the Maravilla Cocoa as their constant beverage for breakfast, lunchon, &c.

" AN UNPRECEDENTED SUCCESS."

May 14. 1868.

"Various importers and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messrs Taylor Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of "Maravilla" Cocoa.

Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this the linest of all species of the Theodroma, they have produced an article which supersides every other Cocoa, is the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others for Homosopatha and Invalida we could not recommed a more agreeable or valuacie overcage."

Cardwell on the Colonies.

Repeated reference having been made to an important speech delivered by Mr. Cardwell, at Oxford, prehaps we cannot do better than place that portion of it which relates more immediately to the Colonial question before our readers :-

"England is not only a great nation in herself, but it is our boast that she is a mother of nations, which are a ready grewing to be strong and powerful na-tions like herself. Well, towards those colonies there are two policies. The first policy, which not many years ago was abandoned, was the policy of patronage. We sat to conduct their government in London—to do, as they say on the other side of the Atlantic, their thinking for them; but they very naturally preferred to arrange their own government and do their own thinking for themselves, and they were quite in the right. They say what one of our poets has put into our months .-

"We must be free or die
Who spake the tongue that Shakespeare spoke,
The fath and morals hold that Milton held." Well, then, the policy of governing from home was a total and entire fail-ure, and it deserved to be. We have substituted for it the policy of doing whatever lies in us to encourage them in the development of their own power in the increase of their own resources in the continual engendering and stimulating among them of the spirit of selfreliance which is the prerogative of Englishmen and the cause of their success. Well, that naturally implies that the apparatus of Government in ordinary times should also be furnished by themselves. The one is a corollary of the other. Look, for instance, to the great Dominion of Canada. Within the last few years an Act of Parliament has been passed by which all the colonies of British North America may, if they think fit, be consolidated into one Dominion. Already the Dominion extends to Newfoundland, on the east, to the Rocky Mountains, on the west, and in the Act of Parliament which it lies with them to give effect to they are empowered to extend it from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. They have already an army which is counted by tens of thousands, and they have such a merchant navy that if they choose to adopt the Act of Parliament which has been passed of Parliament which has been passed for that purpose they may become, under the flag of our common Sovereign, one of the first maritime Powers in the world. This, I cont nd, is the true policy, not only for their benefit, but for ours. If we had adhered to the former policy they would have been very much like what branch railways have unfortunately been to the parent truck. They would be suckers, not feeders. But adopting the latter policy, they are sources of streugth and of honor—they are goms in the diadem of our common Monarch, and whenever the time comes that we have to diagram out of the first maritime Powers in the diadem of our common Monarch, and whenever the time comes that we have to diagram out of the first maritime Passed in the silk cravat round his neck. There were twenty knife or dagger wounds on the face of the boy of eleven years old. His eyes were hanging off his body, to which it was only attached by a single tendon. A boy of seven was only stabled thrice in the neck. His bother, aged four-feeders. But adopting the latter policy, they are sources of streugth and of honor—they are gomes in the diadem.

Whereas, if we had adhered to the ancient policy the most the rountry, rendered weak by the dissection across when the world never the sum of the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and of the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the sum of the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the sum of the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he made a deep horizontal increase and the knife, he knife, adhered to the ancient policy the mother country, rendered weak by the dispersion of its forces, would have had in the hour of danger to go to the assistance of colonies rendered weak by never being encouraged to raise and train and discipline forces of their own."

Such words spoken by a statesman of Mr. Cardwell's experience and position are entitled to carry very great weight, and would seem to dispel an impression which had gained ground in the public mind, viz. that the new colonial policy of the Empire was one of abandonment or disintegration. The colonists will very readily agree with much of this; they will concur with Mr. Cardwell in thinking they can "arrange their own government and do their own thinking" much better than can be done for them at the Coloneal Office in London, and they have not yet to discover that the policy of governing from home was a total and entire failure, and it deserved to be ;" yet it is open to question whether they will so readily admit that they b.ve longer any claim for assistance.

Fearful Butchery in France.

The telegraph has made frequent allusions ecently to the mysterious assassination of a whole family near Paris. Here are the dreadful particulars, which we extract from dreaded particulars, which we extract from an English paper:

On Monday evening two of those unsightly lumbering earts called tombereaux traveised Paris from north to south. They followed the brilliant line of the Boulevards Magents, Strasbourg, and Sebastopol; and turning into the Rue de Rivoll, gained the Place de l'Hotel de Ville, whence they were directed on the Morgue. A sergeant's company of soldiers, headed by eight policement and four mounted gondarmes, guarded them. These manure carts were covered with black cloths. What could they be? They impressed the street idlers with a sense of mysters and the street idlers with a sense of mysters. tery and terror. Some thought they contained the debris of an internal machine which had been seized by the authorities. which had been seized by the authorities, Others opined a powder magazine or a store of Orsiai bombs. When the tombersaux stopped in front of the dead-house, which was surrounded by other solders, the black coverings were litted off, and six bleeding mutilated corpses taken out. They were then undressed and washed, and laid upon the marble slabs in the glass room. The crowd was not admitted to see the corpses. crowd was not admitted to see the corpset. This exceptional interdiction excited public curiosity to the highest pitch. Rumors circulated of another explosion of pierate of potassium, of a fatal accident on the Northern Railway, of a house that had fallen in on its inhabitants, of a wicked aps escaping from the Jardin des Plantes, and butchering a whole family in whose dwelling he had concealed himself, and of a furious madman assassinating his wife and children. Of the six corpses, one was a woman about 40 years old, dressed in a rich black silk, with a six corpses, one was a woman about 40 years old, dressed in a rice black silk, with a watch and chain, elegant gold earnings, bracelets, and three rings on her hacked fingers. Four were the bodies of lads whose ages ranged from seven to seventeen, and one old a little girl, with long curling fair hair, a blue silk lrock and a bavette trummed with Valeuciennes lace. She siso had earnings. The boys were dressed in the costumes word on their caps, one of them had a gold watch on their caps, one of them had a gold watch on their caps, one of them had a gold watch and chain and a wreath, such as children here wear at religious fetes. The eldest had 301. in his pocket, and the lady 7t. and six railway return tickets from Reicoy to Paris. The face of the woman, who was the mother of the five children, was disfigured with cuts. The carthid artery was severed in three places. Her right arm was hown under the biceps, and there were upwards of a hundred wounds in her breas. The baby, to which she was soon to have given birth, was pierced in the brain. The skull of a lad of seventees was beaten in; to make sure of his death, his murderer after knocking out his brains, tied tight a black silk cravat round his neck. But these representations will hardly reconcile that hapless journalite either to the task of killing this woman, or to the daty of being killed, especially as it is about nothing except a book lately published by the ferocious authoress. Thank Heaven, our killing authoresses are not quite so sensational as this. They are kind enough to confine masslanghter to fiction. Mime. Audouard burns for fact. close to the Strasburg line of railway as it issues from the fortifications of Paris. On the path he observed some spots of blood.

A lew yards further he came upon a pool of blood, and then upon a second, in which there were fragments of what he took to be human brains and skull. But there was no-

CLOSELY CALCULATED .- A scientific Englishman named Saxby, made a prediction last December that there would be an extralast December that there would be an extra-ordinary tide on the 8 h of October, that would inundate the lower portions of New York city and play the mischief with things generally around the water,'s edge. Well, the flood came, but it was only about three feet higher than usual, and not as high as it has been on two occasions when we have suffered from gales. Some cellars were flooded and goods that had not been piled high enough were damaged with water, but beyond this there was no damage. Sarby bigh enough were damaled with wart, our beyond this there was no damage. Saxby was right, and he was wrong; his calculations were true as to the time of the flood, and had there been a severe easterly gate it is possible that there would have been great damage.—New York Paper.

The work of laying the railroad immediately... The price of real entire is East Portland is said to have gone up very much presently.

THE EXPRESS RIVALRY .- We see by the San Francisco papere that Wells, Furgo & Co-the old and reliable Express Company, which has success'ully withstood more financial earthquakes then any other similar incial earthquakes then any other similar institution in America—has caused the 'great' United States Express Company to close its doors and go into bankruptoy. When the U.S. started there was to be no questroshown W.F & Co.—except the quartering that usually takes place when a bankrupt firm divides the assets among its creditors. We need not say that he will not put the gift to the precise use for which it was made—he will use it as a bombonniere and, indeed, it was tamed as such to him when the Prince presented it to him. To the Imperial courtiers and State officers he also gave a number of jewels rings, boxes, etc., which were highly appreciated. Oregon. PORTLAND, Oct 29-At 2 o'clock yesterday the first spike of the Oregon Central Rulthe first spike of the Oregon Central Rulroad, East side, was driven. Senator Wiliams addressed the people in a brief speech, congratulating the people of Oregon apon the inauguration of so important an enterprise.
He was followed by Hon J H Mitchell. Mr
J L Parrish, a pioneer, drove the first spike amid the acclamations of the assemblage and music by the military band and the firing of cannon. Then followed an a most turnulture. ous scene of congratulation, hundreds press, ing for, and to shake the band of the man who drove the first spike, and many of the more enthusiastic shaking hards with each other or any other man. Imm distely after the driving of the first spike the track laying force, under John Kilder, Construc-tion Engineer, commenced work and long before the crowd dispensed the track car was running far out on the Oregon Central Rail-road Company rails.

JAPAN.

The principal newstopic in the files from Japan is the arrival of Prince Alried and his reception by the Mikado. The Japan Times, So, temper 29 h, has a long account of the preceedings, from which it appears that the Prince arrived at Yokobams, Sunday, August 29th. The Galatea was saluted by the Japanese forts and man-ol-war. The Prince landel, and on the first of Sep-tamber went to Yedo by land. The Times

On Saturday, the 4th, the Prince paid his visit to the Mikado, and the same ceremony was observed during his progress through the streets as on the occasion of bis driving into Yedo. A totally unexpected compli-ment, it was noticed, was paid to bim, of which the Japanese official had said nothing to the British Legation; the upper windows of the houses in the street which he passed were all closed and scaled with paper bands, that no one tright 'took in' upon him. This is never done in Japan except for the severeign; it was done for the Shogoon when he was, vi tously the ruler, and now for the Makado, and, of c urec, in a Daimio's own capital ins people pay him the same respect, but no Japans s Prince ever receives the compliment from his inperial master, and triting as it may seem to the Europeans, it was a most significant evivence to the natives of the estimation in which the Mikado held the son of his most useful ally.

His Imperial Majesty received his guest in the great audience chamber in the castle, and on perfectly equal terms. Both stood and the Mikado welcomed His Royal Highness to Japan io a condial speece. The in-terview was short, as none of the Phince's stite were presented, and, after a suitable reply had been made to the Mikado's we -come, his Mejesty said he hoped in a few minutes to have the pleasure of seeing hi-guest in another part of the palace, and more privately, then moved and terminated the interview. The Prince's party then refired from the audience shamber and refreshments were served in an adjoining room, after which, with Admiral Kappel, Sir Harry Parkes and the gentleman of the Legation who was acting as interpreter, was received privately in a pavilion in the palace garden. The interview was a long one and though of course no conversation could take place beyond the mere commonplaces easily imagined between such an entitations and ned between such an entertainer and a guest, it was temarkable 1.7, more than one circumstance. Chi fly, thas for the first time the Mikada beard Jopanese spoken to him by a foreigner. Hitherto, both in the case of his Mujesty and the Shogoon, communication with the sovereign on the occasion of a Minister's visit has always been through native interpreters. On this occasion it was properly arranged that the medium should be an Englishman, and the Mikado, white treated with all the respect due to his exalted rank, was consequently fully able to appreciate the relative rank of his guest. The Prince offered him a magnificent diamond sould box, which he placed in his Majesty's hand himself, and the Mikado received the splendid gift with evident delight, which he repeatedly expressed. That he should accept a present made to him in this manner his Royal Highness, who, being anxious to see Yedo as thoroughly as possible, took the practical step of seeing it in a manner incognito. The weather was very much against him, but whenever it west possible he rode out, accompanied only by Mr. Mitford, of the British Legation, and without even the escort of the Legation Guard.

The Japan Herald says: We understand that notwithstanding the refusal of the Emperor of China to receive Prince Alfred, he intends visiting Peking as a private individual. The Salamis will proceed to China to convey his Royal Highness up the tiver.

A imiral Keppel, who has commanded the British flet in Japanese waters for several years, has been recalled lile was tendered fare well barquet by the British residents of Yokohama.

The Japan Times publishes the following: the very important intelligence from our correspondent in Hakodate is wor-thy of the serious attention of the Foreign Ministers. There is not the least room for suspicion of the source whence it was derived, nor can the facts be desied; the designs of Russia upon Yedo have long been known, and as for the present move being consequent upon the recent me vita'le dis organization of the Government of Japan by civil war this was confessed and even boast-

It appears that Mr Harris, the manager of the Quebec branch of the Bank of Montreat, who is a defaulter to the tune of $150,000, and has absconded to the States, was drawn into gold and stock gambling, which he carried on with, or through, an employe of the bank, who is now a broker in Quebec. They sold New York Contral short, and lost greatly by the immense rise in the value of that stock, and this, with other losses, was met by the manager over-drawing his account. When the inspector of the bank found his unsatisfactory state of things, Mr Harri was requested to make, good his account, which he did in part by checks on other banks. He was suspended and the inspector warned all other banks not forcevers any checks accepted by him. treat, who is a detaulter to the tune of not to receive any checks accepted by him. Notwir betanding this precaution, one of the banks did receive a large amount of checks as accepted which the Moutreal Bank declines to pay. If these checks are not paid, the loss of the bank will be reduced about one half.

Frances Mayer, the young Jewess of Nasimo, who ran away from her father's house and is still non est, has addressed the following letter to a San Francisco paper: "According to the rumors given in the article, my sudden distribearance had almost article, my sudden disappearance had almost the appearance of a little romance. However, these rumors had not the least foundation in truth. Some thought I was forcibly kept in some Catholic convent, they trying to make of me another Cracow nun, with the intent to raise up prejudice. In order to calight a the public or my reasons for leaving the home of my parents, leavel myself of your w.l. known kindness by requesting you to give publicity to this letter. I take this occasion to state beforehand that since my departue from home I never put my since my departu e from home I never put my loot within the door of any convent in Cal-ifornia, nor have h ld communication what ever with any such institution. For temose all doubts from the mind of the public, I deem it proper to state that what I have done, I have done is of my on free will not due body forced me to have recourse t such a metaod of separating myself from my own.

As to my motives for taking such a step, I declare that, I being since some time a mem-ber of the Cath. In Church, it was impos-ible for me to aboy the rule of my conscience on account of paren's Deing extremely prejudiced against the Carbolic religin; so much se, that on a mere surption that I might have some intention of becomof the privilege of the law, and I have taken this step in order to rectain my own liberty and independence, particularly in a matter that regards my own conscience. It was prudent for me in the beginning to conceal myself to avoid such vexations as could savily be anoticipate. But when I learned that poince agents were searching for me, in order to arrest me, and that warrants to this affect had been ablatined from the Court, I have used more precable to that they may not find ane out. To have left my parents! find me out. To have left my parental home is not a crime for me since I am of age. They must, then, have brought some o her criminal charges against me before the Court in order to ob air warrants for my acres.

I have taken nothing with me but my cloth-I have taken nothing with me but my cloth-ing and a few jewels that have been given me by my parents and friends. If they think (which I cannot suppose to be the case) that I have no right to do such things, I am ready to deprive myself of all of them to the law pin. I do not want to have any trouble for such triffee. God will provide for me. I have already proposed my terms to my family and three some conditions which I require that I may come out to daylight to reembrace my mother and other relatives. If they accept them, all right; if they do not then I am resigned to live and die in obsecutive. Meantime, I declare that I am free and implose the laws of the State to uphold and protect my own freedom, my life, and my (which I cannot suppose to be the case) that and protect my own freedom, my life, and my bonor. They Judge Provinces, Chief Crow-ley, and the Pro-centro-General of the city of San Francisco, to take notice of this, my letter, becau e time perhaps will come wher I shall be obliged to appeal to this dicument as a probal against any a tempts on my privilege on the pit of my family, or on the part of the sect to which they belong.

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to ils natural Vitality and Color. A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrapated and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for But such as remain can be saved tor usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or fulling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dispersions and make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly mars ellows. In externate with the control of which are truly mars ellows. In externate with the control of the surface of the most destructive enemies of our tare. Often, this unseen and unfeit the informed of its virtues or uses.

Serofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our tare. Often, this unseen and unfeit the cant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfecting or fataldiseases, without sections an supplication of the presence. Again, then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developint one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercless may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by cruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsapartilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflieted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA. St. Authony's Fire, Rose or Eyysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Seald Head, Ringuorm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other cruptions or visible forms of Serofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dispepsia, Dropsy, and the various Electrous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Suphitis or Feneral and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subdining these obstinate maladles by any medicine. But long continued use of this succession will cure the complaint. Leucourbax or Whites. Utering

Ayer's Cherry Poctoral, For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Astima, and Consumption.

Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and power to cure the various affections of the lungs are or against them. While the same than the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antiolet for them. Although settled Consumption is flought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mistery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could read that the subject of the mist supers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitts is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally and its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

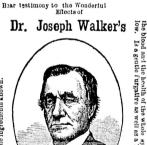

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Blious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatio poisons. As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zine, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receif of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unacellmated persons, either resident in, or tected by taking the instance of the resident in, or tected by taking the instance of the resident in the profession of the complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.
